Gore Mutual in Production with Duck Creek Policy Administration™ for Commercial Property

Installation of newly released 4.1 Platform gives Gore Mutual use of many of the new features offered by Duck Creek Technologies.

BOLIVAR MO—Month, Day /PRNewswire/ -- Gore Mutual Insurance Company and Duck Creek Technologies, Inc., announced today that Gore Mutual is in production and processing commercial property policies on the Duck Creek Policy Administration™ system. This new system for Gore Mutual's national commercial property line is the first of many releases which will replace their aging legacy system.

"We are off to a great start with the new system which will lead to improved service for our commercial brokers," says Kevin McNeil, President and CEO of Gore Mutual. "The teamwork involved in this project has been outstanding...dedication, diligence, patience, a sense of urgency and above all mutual respect among those that were involved."

This implementation represents a number of firsts for Duck Creek Technologies. Gore Mutual is their first Canadian customer, in addition to being the first to implement Duck Creek's 4.1 Platform, including the new integration hub.

"We are excited to be working with Gore Mutual and pleased that the this project has gone so well," Steve Hall, Duck Creek's President and CEO, "The Duck Creek team is dedicated to seeing our customers succeed – which means giving them the tools they need to best serve their brokers."

"Gore Mutual consistently looks to deliver value for our brokers through new and innovative solutions," says Sean Christie, VP, Strategic Projects. "It is our IT governance discipline and agile project approach that allows us to succeed."
